Washington, February 23.—(United News.)—The government had a successful day in dealing with the various ramifications of the Teapot Dome affair.

The senate won its court fight over its contempt action against Robert W. Stewart, head of the Standard Oil of Indiana, while senate Teapot Dome investigating committee obtained testimony revealing that Harry M. Blackmer, one of the ring leaders in the Continental Trading company deal, got $763,000 out of the profits and fled the country because he feared civil action by oil companies to recover the money.

Will Press Contempt Action.

United States District Attorney Gordon announced he will proceed with contempt action against the Burns detectives who shadowed the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome jury and against Edward J. Kidwell, the juror who was alleged to have predicted he would get a car a block long if Sinclair was acquitted.

The Stewart case was decided in favor of the government when Justice Jennings Bailey, of the District of Columbia supreme court, dismissed Stewart's habeas corpus writ and declared he had no right to refuse to

RAIL UNION CHIEF MUST GO TO JAIL

Waycross Judge Sentences
R. E. Edgington to 5 Days Behind Bars in Contempt Case.

Waycross, Ga., February 23.—(Special.)—R. E. Edgington, assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, late Thursday was sentenced to five days in jail and fined $200 by Judge J. D. Blalock in Ware county superior court who cited the official for contempt of court.

The sentence was imposed after a hearing held Thursday afternoon on the complaint of certain members of the Waycross division of the brotherhood that Edgington had violated the temporary injunction of the court restraining him from in any way interfering with the affairs of the local organization.

It was charged that the assistant grand chief engineer had used his high authority as a national officer to bring about the expulsion from the Waycross division Tuesday of four local members who formed a "locomotive engineers' protective committee" in the friction between the Waycross division and the national officers.

Three of the four men expelled from the local division at the instance of Edgington had, some time ago, mailed out circular letters to all the divisions of the brotherhood in the United States and Canada stating that 'I Am Starting Out in

Auto to God Knows
Where,' Mysterious
Writer Asserts in Letter

Morristown, N. J., February 23.—(United News.)—The man responsible for New Jersey's latest bizarre murder case has confessed and started out "to God know's where" in hopes of escaping punishment.

Some man, educated for the practice of medicine and schooled in the ways of the elite, today wrote to police of Bernardsville, N. J., that he was the person who killed Miss Margaret Brown, governess for many years in the homes of wealthy New Yorkers, soaked her clothing with gasoline, set fire to her and fled. Miss Brown was found, in flames, and died from her burns in a hospital.

Confession Not Signed.

The murderer's written confession was unsigned, but it was accompanied by two $1,000 bonds and $500 in cash to guarantee its authenticity.

The bonds, traced through New York bankers, were found to have been a part of $8,000 worth Miss Brown had drawn from a bank the day last week when she disappeared.

"I am starting out to God knows where," the murder wrote, "to hell, I suppose—and by the time you get this letter, I will have a good start on you."

The letter told the story police suspected. The writer said he first met Miss Brown in Buffalo about two years ago. She was in Buffalo about that time, police already knew. Later he had met her in Newark. He had studied medicine.

Called "Doctor" Over Phone.

Miss Brown, police previously had learned, spoke often over the telephone to "the doctor." His name might have been "Huff" or "Hoff" or "Kauff."

Miss Brown went to her bank Monday and drew $8,000 in securities and $1,000 in cash. She told friends and

Earthquakes Rock Shrine In Holy Land

Nazareth Among Cities of Palestine Shaken by Heavy Tremors.

Jerusalem, February 23.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Nazareth was among the many cities which suffered from the earthquake which rocked Palestine yesterday.

Reports received by government headquarters in Jerusalem indicate that the earthquake was felt in Jerusalem, Haifa, Afulah, Acre, Lod, Jaffa, Tiberias, Nazareth, Nablus and Ramleh.

Many Buildings Damaged.

Everywhere many houses, including municipal and government buildings, were damaged. Telegraph and telephone communications were interrupted.

In Jerusalem the government house on the Mount of Olives, which suffered in the earthquake of last July, was again damaged.

The Hebrew university on Mount Scopus again suffered damages, many walls of the buildings being cracked. In many cities all villages the population passed the night in the open, afraid of a repetition of the shock.

Thornton Boatright, of 211 Thirteenth street, an employee of a local theater, is in a dying condition, and two young women, Miss Mary Harnes, of 168 Howard street, and Miss Wilmer Arkels, of 792 West Peachtree street, were seriously injured Thursday night in a head-on crash between the automobile in which they were riding and a street car on West Peachtree street near Fifth street.

The victims were taken to Grady hospital in the private ambulance of Blanchard Brock, and a late hour Thursday neither Boatright nor Miss Harnes had regained consciousness. Boatright suffered injuries to his head that may prove fatal and deep lacerations on his face and arms. Miss Arkels suffered internal injuries, while Miss Harnes was badly cut about the head and face, hospital attaches stated.

Lima, Ohio, February 23.—(AP.)—George Remus laid bare his life story today when he took the stand in the hearing on a writ of habeas corpus seeking his release from the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane here on the grounds of faulty commitment papers.

Remus was sent here after he had been found not guilty of the murder of his wife, Lucene, in Cincinnati on the ground of insanity. In an even unflinching tone Remus told how, as a young man, he purchased a drug store in Chicago, sold it and invested the money in Chicago real estate which later netted him a profit of $18,000. ## Paris Judge Hears Colby Divorce Plea

Secretary of State for Wilson Charges Mate Has
'Capricious Tempera-

Versailles, France, February 23.—(United News.)—Decision is expected next week in the divorce suit of Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state, against Mrs. Nathalie Sedgwick Colby.

Trial of the suit was held today, former President Millerand appearing for Colby. Mrs. Colby was not represented. The judge told the United Press, after Millerand had pleaded on behalf of his client, of two cables from French which Colby received from his wife and which were introduced into the record. The cables, translated, read:

What the Cables Said.

"May God extend His arm and tear away your chevron."

"Well, good Luck, Paris. Go crazy but not too crazy."

Millerand charged that Mrs. Colby's "capricious temperament" made her husband's life insupportable. The lawyer said she had ridiculed Colby and President Harding in two novels she wrote.

Colby obviously was the statesman portrayed in "Green Forest" and Harding was portrayed in "Black Stream," Millerand asserted.

The lawyer read letters from Mrs. Colby to her husband, which, Millerand said, demonstrated the capriciousness of her temperament. He said Mrs. Colby had asked for divorce toward the close of 1925.

'Atlanta Is Home to Me,' States New York Mayor

Gunmen Escape After Auto Is Wrecked Near Kingsland; Cashier Is Found Shot.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 23.—(AP.)—C. A. Perry, cashier of the Bank of Kingsland, Georgia, was in a hospital here tonight being operated on for bullet wounds inflicted by three men who held him up at the point of a gun, made him open the bank's vault and deliver them several thousand dollars.

The story Perry told questioners before going under an anesthetic tonight was that three men approached him late this afternoon and asked that they be shown a piece of land near Kingsland which he had for sale. He agreed to take them out, and getting into his own car and they into another car, the party left town.

Faced By Revolver.

Arriving at the land, Perry said he got out of his car to be faced with a pistol in the hands of one of the men.

Perry decided to resist and pulled a knife from his pocket, whereupon the man with the gun shot him in the hand. He then started to run and a second shot was fired, the bullet taking effect in his leg, then a third shot stopped him. It entered his thigh and the bullet ranged upward into his abdomen.

The men then took Perry into their car, he related, drove through Kingsland, stopping by the bank where they made him open the vault and take out all of the available cash, several thousand dollars, and again they took him into the car, all the time keeping him covered, and started out to bring him to a hospital here, he said they told him.

Bandit Car Wrecked.

About six miles out of Jacksonville, the small car in which they were riding, skidded, turned over and wrecked.

The bandits then threw Perry into the bushes, he said, as that was where he came to after the wreck. In the meantime a passing motorist had picked up the slightly injured trio of robbers and given them a lift into town, leaving them at a residential address.

Another motorist passing the scene of the wreck asked aloud if any one was hurt, whereupon Perry said he answered, and they brought him to a hospital.

The money was recovered near the scene where the car was wrecked by police who were sent out to investigate. The money evidently had been hidden hastily by the bandit trio when they saw the approaching motorist, who was to bring them in.

Walker Praises Stone Mountain Memorial

While the Atlanta police band played Jimmy Walker's favorite song, "Will You Love Me in December As You Did in May?" the New York mayor was officially greeted and welcomed to Atlanta by Mayor L. N. Raggsdale at the Terminal station Thursday afternoon.

James J. Walker, mayor of New York, and Graham's own good-will ambassador, spent 12 hours in Atlanta Thursday. He slept until 11 o'clock, lunched at the Capital City club, visited Stone Mountain, drove through Emory campus and Piedmont park, visited the Atlanta Woman's club and then found time to pay a few personal calls before entraining for Winston-Salem at 7:30 o'clock.

The dapper Mr. Mayor upset no precedents as regards his tardiness. He was six hours earlier in reaching Atlanta and he just managed to catch the train on which he left, but returning from the Capital City club, where he

LEAGUE IS STIRRED BY HUNGARIAN DEFENSE

Nation Sends Note to Council That Confiscat-

Despite Protest.

Geneva, February 23.—(United News.)—A sensation was created here tonight by reports that the Hungarian government had sent a note to the League of Nations declaring that five carloads of machine guns would be auctioned Friday despite the league's request for postponement of the sale.

Observers interpreted the action of Premier Bethlen of Hungary as openly flouting the authority of the league. The request of the little onetime to investigate the now famous St. Gotthard incident—seizure of the guns—creates for the league council, which meets March 5, its most important problem, with anything likely to happen.

HUNGARY SENDS NOTE TO LEAGUE.

Budapest, February 23.—(United News.)—Hungary will auction off five carloads of machine guns, which make up the famous St. Gotthard seizure, despite the League of Nations request for postponement of the sale, Premier Bethlen said tonight in a note to Sir Eric Drummond, league secretary.

Bethlen said the auction would be held Friday as scheduled, because all details already have been arranged. The machine guns comprise the contingent seized a few months ago at St. Gotthard, which are said to have been shipped from Italy. Various responsible parties outside Hungary

Committee Cuts Wilbur's Request for 72 New Fighting Ships to 16 in Executive Session.

Washington, February 23.—(AP.)—Slashing Secretary Wilbur's recommendations for 72 new warships, the house naval committee decided today to authorize the construction of 16 ships, one of them an aircraft carrier and the remainder cruisers of the 10,000-ton class. It turned thumbs down on new submarines.

This action, taken at a protracted executive session, was described by Chairman Butler as "practically unanimous" and in line with the original American proposal to the unsuccessful Geneva arms conference.

Wilbur Asked Huge Fund.

Wilbur had urged the committee to approve a building program of 25 cruisers, five aircraft carriers, nine destroyer leaders, and 32 submarines, representing the program as having the backing of President Coolidge.

Butler estimated the committee's program would cost $274,000,000 as compared with $740,000,000 for the administration's plan, both figures excluding the increase in aircraft and personnel for which the additional ships would call.

The committee in refusing to provide for submarines turned a deaf ear not only to the naval secretary but also to an emphatic protest by one of its own members, Representative McClintic, democrat, Oklahoma. Regarding destroyer leaders the committee said that the navy department had not as yet requested funds for the remaining 12 of a large number of destroyers authorized under the 1916 building act.

Start in Three Years.

The committee provided that the 15 cruisers should be started within three years and completed within six; that the aircraft carrier be started with-

Families Live in Match- wood Barracks on $3 Weekly; Non-Union La- borers Termed Terrorists

Pittsburgh, February 23.—(United News.)—The senate interstate commerce subcommittee investigating conditions in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields found both strikers and strike-breakers "living like piggies."

The committee today visited camps of strikers and mines in operation with nonunion laborers. Testimony of alleged tyranny, brutality, starvation and hardships was taken for presentation to the interstate commerce committee. Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, cross-examined mine superintendents, strikers' wives and strikers' children. Both sides were unanimous in saying they lived in deplorable conditions.

Find Cracks in Walls.

Joseph Steck, Castle Shannon mine, No. 2, was first interviewed. He told the committee his wife and eight children lived off the $3 a week.

"They lived in barracks from match-wood. There were cracks in walls, no privacy and three lavatories and three toilets for 45 families. The rooms were papered with cardboard boxes to keep out the wind."

Many barracks of four rooms housed two families of ten people the committee learned.

J. M. Provost, manager of the mine, said he had no trouble hiring strike-breakers but they have sixty police to protect 2,200 employees. The strike-breakers live even worse than the evicted families, with eight men to a room in bunkhouses.

Admit Liquor Plentiful.

Strikebreakers admit liquor was plentiful but denied drugs were used. Fifty per cent of the strikebreakers are negroes imported from the south.

The mine pay rolls were inspected and showed nonunion workers are only making from $4 to $30 every two weeks. They complained to the senators that they can't leave the mine property, guards refusing passes to them. Some said they hadn't left the mine grounds for four months.

At Hornum mine No. 4, the senators had Mrs. Clarice Englert tell a story of how 50 children coming from school shopped "seashells" at the workers and the men opened fire. Women

RIOT SQUAD ENDS TRIAL DISORDERS

Chicago, February 23.—(AP)—Death in the electric chair for Dr. Amari Rongetti was demanded by the state today in opening his trial for the murder by criminal operation of Miss Loretta Enders and her infant.

A throng of court fans fought for admission to the courtroom this afternoon and the rush was stemmed only when riot squads of police were called and broke their way into the melee, cracking heads with their batons.

Nurse Charges Threat.

Trembling from fright, Miss Loretta Enders, former superintendent of nurses of the hospital of which Dr. Rongetti was the head, at first refused to testify against her former employer.

She asserted her life had been threatened and that William Scott Stewart, counsel for Rongetti, last night threatened to produce two negro men whose testimony would blast her reputation.

Assured by Judge Frank Comerford that he would not permit introduction of the negroes, Miss Enders testified she was present when Dr. Rongetti operated upon Miss Enders.

Suggestions Not Heeded.

Several days later when she made suggestions for saving the young woman's life the doctor refused to accept them, first because her family had not enough money to pay for a further operation and because she did not wish to cause an official investigation, the nurse said.

For the operation Dr. Rongetti got a total of $175, testified William Scott, 20-year-old dental student, who took Miss Enders to Rongetti and presented her as his wife.

The defense indicated it would contend that Miss Enders was taken to Dr. Rongetti for treatment after somebody else had performed a criminal operation.

Two car tracks were declared responsible for the street car collision on Hunter street.

ROBERT FULLER
TO FACE LIQUOR
CHARGES IN MACON

An order for the removal of Robert Fuller to Macon to answer charges of violating the national prohibition act was signed Thursday by Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley. Fuller was arrested in Rebus county.

Judge Sibley fined H. D. Hansard, of Forsyth county, $20 Thursday morning when Hansard entered a plea of guilty to charges of manufacturing whisky. The small fine was assessed in view of Hansard's having been fined $250 in state court on the same charge. Judge Sibley also set aside Hansard's forfeiture of $300 bond of October 11, 1927, when it was made to appear to the court that Hansard did not know his case had been set for trial.

CONDITION OF AUTO
VICTIM UNCHANGED

The condition of Ed M. Tony, dairyman of Morrow, who was injured Wednesday when his automobile collided with a car driven by W. E. Adams, of R. D. No. 1, on Jonesboro road, remained unchanged Thursday, it was stated at Grady hospital. Tony is suffering from a fractured skull, and is said to be in a critical condition.

KENTUCKY 'OUSTS' DRY REFERENDUM

Frankfort, Ky., February 23.—(P)—Despite an impassioned plea by Representative Ferdinand Gnu, of Louisville, the house voted overwhelmingly today to accept an unfavorable report on his bill calling for a referendum on the prohibition amendment to the state constitution.

Claiming the distinction of being the "driest man in this house for a number of years," Gnu insisted that his measure was not backed by whisky interests but would pave the way for reversion to "educational reform." (A division, his motion to read the bill into the calendar over the committee report was lost, Representative Hoff, of Covington, alone voting with Gnu.)

Paul Donehoo Pays Tribute to Mrs. Manston in Card to Voters

TO MY FRIENDS: I earnestly solicit your active support for Mrs. Beulah Donehoo Manston in her race for Fulton County Treasurer. She is my sister and throughout the long hard struggle she has undergone for more than eighteen years, providing, entirely unassisted, for herself and her three children, she has never paused to count the sacrifice when it was a question of doing me a service. She has been my staunch supporter in every serious enterprise I have ever undertaken and her love and loyalty to me are among my priceless possessions.

Emory university chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha will act as host to the biennial district convention of this fraternity in Atlanta February 29 and March 1. Georgia Tech, Emory, Mercer, Dalton and the University of Florida, will be represented. Business meetings will be held at the new chapter house at Emory.

HOLLIMON TO SPEAK TO CLUB AT EMORY

James A. Hollimon, of The Constitution editorial staff, will deliver an address at the regular meeting of the Political Science club at Emory university at 6:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

GANGSTER, DEFIES WARNING, IS SLAIN

Chicago, February 23.—(P)—Warned a month ago by rival bootlegging gangsters that if he stepped outside his home he would never return alive, Frank Leonatti took a chance today. He walked 20 feet from his own front door and two bullets from the revolver of a stranger cut him down. He died before police arrived.

Leonatti was the keeper of the "hangout" for the notorious "Forty-two" gang. It was a soft-drink place, and he also owned the Pleasure Inn, a roadhouse near Elgin. The soft-drink place was on the south side. He was 40 years old and police said he was a cousin of the wife of "Diamond Joe" Esposito, widely-known politician and restaurant owner.

James Casey, said by police to be a drug addict, was arrested today charged with having killed Robert Wilson, part owner of a soft-drink place. A man entered Wilson's place late last night, firing at the ceiling and floor with two revolvers as he approached the bar.

DR. JOE JACOBS TALKS ON LIFE OF DR. LONG

Dr. Joe Jacobs, prominent Atlanta druggist, delivered a talk Thursday afternoon to the pupils of the English-Avenue school on the life of Dr. Crawford W. Long. Dr. Jacobs showed the pupils a model of the original statue of Dr. Long, now in the Hall of Fame. The address was given in connection with a program for a month of study in Atlanta public schools of famous Georgians.

WRIGHT, DISMUKKE GIVEN PERMANENT PROHIBITION POSTS

Permanent appointment of Howard P. Wright as deputy prohibition administrator for the northern district of Georgia and of F. D. Dismuke as deputy administrator for the middle district, was announced Thursday in telegraphic dispatches from Washington.

Mr. Wright has been acting as deputy administrator here for the past several months and recently passed successfully the civil service examination now required of men in the prohibition service. He was formerly an agent in charge of the department of justice in the state of Washington, and before his appointment as deputy administrator here practiced law in Savannah.

Mr. Dismuke is well known in Atlanta, and until a short time ago was stationed at Savannah, where he transferred to Macon to take charge of the newly created middle district of Georgia.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ASK CITIZENS' AID IN NEW EQUIPMENT

The Atlanta Camp Fire Girls, who are conducting a drive to raise money to equip their proposed camp at Toccoa Falls, Ga., recalled that last May the girls sold 60,000 doughnuts, realizing a profit of $400. This year they are asking Mr. and Mrs. Atlanta to help them in raising enough money to build a mess hall, an assembly hall, a swimming pool and some cottages.

COOLIDGE AWARDS HONOR TO S-4 HERO

Washington, February 23.—(United News)—Thomas Eadie, famous deep-sea diver, was awarded the congressional medal of honor by President Coolidge today for heroism in rescue work in the S-4 disaster.

Meanwhile disagreement arose as to the report of the board of inquiry dividing the blame for the collision between the commanders of the submarine and the coast guard destroyer. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said he thought the naval court has done a great injustice to Coast Guard Commander Bavis, who was not warned that a submarine was operating in his vicinity.

Report Is Commended. House administration leaders on the other side of the house, however, said it would make the proposed congressional investigation of the disaster unnecessary.

The special court of inquiry resumed its work on orders of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and has called Rear Admiral Brumby back to gather more evidence in support of its recommendation that he be removed from command of the Atlantic control force because of inadequate knowledge of submarines.

MAYOR WALKER SEES ATLANTA

lunched, he kept the reception committee and the police hand waiting. Mayor Walker was to have been greeted officially at 2 o'clock. At 2:15 he was wheeled into the cleared parking space before the terminal and alighted while the police band played his own song, "Will You Love Me in December as You Did in May."

Mayor Walker shook hands with Mayor N. Rossdale. Then Mayor Walker shook hands with Hollins Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Monumental association. Then he shook hands with everybody that could get near enough.

A young woman in blue elbowed her way through the crowd. Mayor Walker was preparing to enter the car that was to take him to Stone Mountain. But the young lady was determined. "Mayor Walker," she called, quite petulantly and the mayor turned.

"I just wanted to shake hands with you. I think maybe I know you, and just wanted to shake hands with you." "You should know me," the traveling mayor greeted her.

The mayor's party embarked for Stone Mountain. Screaming sirens on the motorcycles of two police cleared the way for the yellow sedan in which the New Yorker headed the motorcycle of 12 cars, out Spring street to North avenue, to Piedmont to Ponce de Leon, and not until the party had entered the Druid Hills section did the screaming sirens stop.

Poses for Photographers. Enterprising photographers halted the mayor's party as it disembarked at Stone Mountain. While camera cranks turned and shutters clicked Mr. Randolph explained the work on Stone Mountain to Mayor Walker.

The rattle of an electric drill echoed from the high scaffolding and Mayor Walker remarked: "Ah, ha, and you know how you're doing it. Hydraulic drills, eh? Well, I want my money back. I thought it was to be hand made."

Into the studio Mayor Walker was led. There Mr. Randolph delivered a short address of welcome. The mayor from New York responded.

"My town, too, reveres the memory of those three great Americans, Lee, Davis and Jackson. New York remembers how at the close of the family differences we had more than 60 years ago, Colonel John R. Fellows and General Dyer took off their Confederate uniforms and moved to New York to become honored citizens there. Since then hundreds of thousands of their southern brothers and sisters have come to live with us and we have loved them."

"I come from a city that doesn't know any geographical lines. We do not ask where our people come from but where they are going and what is their purpose. We are interested in Stone Mountain and the part it will play in perpetuating American history. Anything that is American is part of us and we are part of it."

"Some day this monument will be coupled with those of Washington, Lincoln, Pershing and countless others."

Poses for Photographers. "I'm very glad to be welcomed to Atlanta. But you know, Atlanta is home to me. I moved in three years ago."

This was the closest the mayor came to making a speech during his stay in Atlanta. He posed in a dozen different attitudes for hard-working photographers in the shadow of the mountain. Then the cavalcade re-embarked for Atlanta. On the inbound journey the route deviated through Emory campus and Piedmont park.

In the Morningside section the three motorcycle policemen leading the 12 autos lost their bearings and had to stop for a consultation. Finding the right direction again, the mayor and his somewhat long retinue headed for the Women's club on Peachtree street, where Mayor Walker was greeted by Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith and entered his name on the visitors' registry.

He was then escorted to the Georgian Terrace hotel, where his visit to Atlanta officially terminated, with Walker shaking hands with each member of the police escort and everyone else so disposed.

Dobbs Represents Mayor. Alderman W. Guy Dobbs represented Mayor Rossdale on the Stone Mountain trip. Though Mayor Rossdale greeted the mayor at the Terminal station. Earlier in the morning Bobby Jones had paid his compliments to the mayoral visitor.

Mayor Walker and members of his party met a group of prominent Atlantans when all were guests at luncheon at the Capital City club of Major John S. Cohen, of the Atlanta Journal.

seemed to him to indicate that he would be the guest at a dinner in which would be a short talk afterward. This seemed to be a move for exclusiveness, the mayor thought, and not wishing to "high hat" anyone in Mobile the mayor cancelled his stay there.

On his arrival in Atlanta the mayor wrote the following formal statement for the Associated Press:

"I hope and believe my visit through a part of the south will mark a progress to me, despite the elimination of misunderstandings between the great cities and the places of smaller population."

"Everywhere I have been greeted with the utmost cordiality and appreciation. Honors have been paid me as mayor of New York."

"I have said to some of the friends I have met in the south that our giant metropolis has been good to its sons and daughters from the 47 states outside New York and acknowledges with gratitude the outstanding services they have contributed. This cannot be said to me."

"New York knows no geography and asks no questions of the men and women who come from other places to cast their lot with it."

"As I have traveled in the south I have been gratified to learn that New York has more friends than we know. The people when they think about it, it seems to me, decide that New York is not so bad after all."

"I have had a great time at the New Orleans Mardi Gras. I don't think anyone saw more of it than I."

For the first time in the history of the two schools, freshmen of Wesleyan Woman's college and Emory university will meet in debate Friday night in Macon, Ga. Robert Atkinson and Edward Brown will represent Emory.

The subject for the debate is "Resolved, that the increased power of the federal government during the past quarter of a century indicates a wise tendency." Emory will take the negative side.

A varsity debate with Wesleyan was staged for the first time last year when Emory team won. Next month another varsity team from Emory will invade the Wesleyan arena field. David Lockmiller and Warren Cox will champion Emory.

The Right Way to Relieve Headache

Why shock your system with harsh laxatives and purgatives when it is most likely that your headache comes from a congested condition of the blood which can be corrected by this simple, harmless remedy?

Years ago, Dr. T. M. Stanback discovered that the majority of people want something to relieve headache quickly, without any bad after effects. So he developed this prescription which has been used by so many throughout the South that it has been called "The South's Standard Remedy." Physicians and dentists use it in their practice to relieve all kinds of pain—neuralgia, backache, toothache, and to check colds and "flu."

You'll be simply amazed at the speedy relief you'll get with Stanback Headache Powders. At the very first sign of headache or pain of any kind, go to your druggist. He'll recommend Stanback—and you will, too, after the first trial.

HUNT CONFESSION RELATED TO JURY

Los Angeles, February 23.—(P)—The tear-filled eyes of the widow of the man they are accused of slaying brought the confession of Welby Hunt into court today at his trial with William E. Hickman, charged with the murder of C. Ivy Toms, druggist.

From Frank Dewar, chief jailer of the county jail, where the two youths have been confined since the killing on Christmas eve, 1926, the jury heard the story of how Hunt, then a 16-year-old boy, broke down and admitted complicity in the crime. After his arrest, said Dewar, Hunt stuck to his story that he had no hand in the Toms attempted holdup and murder.

Widow Caused Confession. Then Mrs. Toms, the widow, was brought to the county jail and he was confronted with her. His denials melted as he saw the woman, and, said Dewar, Hunt exclaimed: "You could beat me to a pulp and I'd not admit a thing, but when I saw that little woman, I give in. I was with Hickman in that drug store."

As Dewar repeated Hunt's words, Mrs. Toms, seated in the body of the court, burst into tears.

In his confession read by Dewar, Hunt admitted he and Hickman were the two who entered the store, but he refused to assume blame for the killing. The fatal shot was not fired from his pistol, Hunt claimed.

Franklin's To Open Doors To Atlanta Women Tonight

Franklin's—newest addition to Atlanta's array of retail business houses catering to women—will open its doors at 7 o'clock tonight with a big public reception, it was announced Thursday by J. E. Williams, advertising director of the southern chain of Franklin stores, who will be in charge of the event.

The Franklin store occupies the old quarters of the J. P. Allen company on Whitehall street between Broad and Hunter streets, and from its formal opening will display a complete stock of women's ready-to-wear, underwear, hosiery, shoes and millinery and a full line of clothing for children.

Bernard Fellman, who has been connected with the Franklin store organization for a number of years and who is widely experienced in merchandising for southern women, will be manager of the Atlanta store.

Mr. Williams, the advertising director, stated in connection with announcement of the Friday night opening that no selling will be engaged in at that time.

Public Invited. "We want Atlanta women to call and inspect the beautiful new store which has just been outfitted, decorated and furnished in the most attractive style; to look over our stock of magnificent and stylish merchandise, and to become acquainted with our personnel," he said.

Music for the opening will be provided by a well-known orchestra, and each woman guest will be presented with flowers. In addition, Mr. Williams added, a prominent Atlanta woman will welcome all visitors to the store at the opening ceremony. "We feel confident that we can make everybody feel at home," Mr. Williams said, "because, aside from some of our executives, the entire personnel of the store will be composed of Atlantans. Remodeling and decorating of the store has been done by Atlanta firms and we plan immediately to take our place as a part of Atlanta's commercial and civic life."

Mr. Williams, who is a nationally-known authority on advertising and merchandising, has been here several days, and announced Thursday that he is delighted with the preliminary reception with which the Franklin company—with headquarters in New Orleans, and a chain of stores throughout the south—has met here.

Style, Quality and Service. "We have come to Atlanta," he declared, "to offer to its women the utmost in style, quality and service, presenting an unparalleled selection in ready-to-wear and kindred lines, styled up to the moment at prices far below the average."

"We are able to do this as a result of our immense buying power and our affiliation with New York markets and buyers. The moment a new style appears in New York, Franklin's is among the first to secure it, and Atlanta women may come to this store with the confidence of finding exactly what they need without straining their pocketbooks."

"Atlanta women are known all over the country for the style of their dress, and Franklin's came here after extensive investigation of the field fully equipped to meet every demand in style at a standard of popular prices."

A great stock of ready-to-wear designed by foremost couturiers of America and continental fashion artists will occupy the front part of the main floor of Franklin's with an up-to-the-minute silk underwear and hosiery department under the direction of C. C. Cox, an expert merchandiser, fully acquainted with the tastes of southern women.

Shoe Department. In the rear will be the shoe department, which will feature the famous Jay Bee shoes exclusively handled by Franklin's. This chic footwear will be offered in all the latest styles and materials, according to J. R. Hillman, the department's manager, who for a number of years was connected with the shoe department of a well-known local department store. Jay Bee the shoe designer, has visited Atlanta to look the local situation over, and J. H. Porter, in charge of installation of Franklin's shoe department, was in charge of outfitting the local store's footwear section.

On the second floor, which will be served by two high-speed elevators, will be located the millinery salon occupying the front of the building except for space for executive offices. This department will be under direction of Harry Brock and will offer exclusive models from New York and Paris at popular prices. Under Mr. Brock will be a capable millinery designer who will cater to the modes of Atlanta women.

HAS NATURE-STUDY FAD GRIPPED YOU?

Atlantans, Georgians and southerners by the hundreds are becoming nature students as the result of the latest fad which has swept this section and centered general interest in that queer creature, the elephant.

Yet there's no general outpouring of people to zoos and circuses, for the particular elephant that is the center of all eyes isn't a living beast. Nor is he one of those prehistoric monsters unearthed after being fossilized for ages.

He's none other than the famous Constitution puzzle elephant, and three of his species are being mathematically "weighed" and measured by enthusiastic candidates for the rich rewards offered the winners in The Constitution's Triplet Elephant Game.

If you haven't become interested in this novel, entertaining and educational competitive event, watch for advertisements giving full details of the contest in this paper. Then get in the swim. You'll enjoy it!

AMERICUS WOMAN ENDS LIFE WITH SHOT

Americus, Ga., February 23.—(Special)—Mrs. Eunice Matthews Hall shot and killed herself in the home of her father, T. M. Matthews, here Wednesday night. One shot from a small caliber pistol penetrated Mrs. Hall's brain, and death ensued within a short time.

Just before her act Mrs. Hall was guest in the home of Mrs. D. R. Wright, a neighbor, together with other friends and appeared to be in her usual health and spirits. She left the Wright home early in the evening and went directly to her father's house, her absence not being noted until the report of a shot was heard within the Matthews' residence by other guests.

Mrs. Hall left no note explaining her deed and no cause for the act is known. She had been married about a year and was separated from her husband, B. Frank Hall. She is survived by her father and a number of other relatives residing in this community. Funeral services were held here Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Anthony Hearn, pastor of Lee Street Methodist church, and interment was in Oak Grove cemetery.

POLICE ARE READY TO TRAP SPEEDERS; NEW WHEELS HERE

Atlantans who delight in stepping on the gas would do well to watch their speedometer, for the Atlanta police department plans to break into service nine brand-new twin motor-cycles Saturday or Monday. The machines have been received, and are being assembled by a factory representative.

The new models are capable of 120 miles an hour, and can outrun anything on wheels in Atlanta, it was said. The nine new machines will replace the 24 models maintained by the department which have been condemned.

The men will cheerfully refund money on purchases or make exchanges. That is the cardinal principle on which our house is founded, and it will be continuously employed in Atlanta on the same basis that has resulted in wide popularity for our two stores in New Orleans and our stores in Houston, Birmingham and Jackson, Miss. In the next 30 days we will enlarge our chain by opening stores in Memphis and San Antonio.

FRIENDS PREDICT SUCCESS OF HARWELL

Success of Walter E. Harwell in his race for tax receiver of Fulton county, subject to the democratic primary of March 7, was predicted by his campaign committee in a statement issued Thursday through Marvin Ross, executive secretary.

"The candidacy of Walter E. Harwell is meeting with popular response throughout the county and the wave of favorable sentiment which is sweeping the county is destined to place Mr. Harwell in office by a big majority," the statement said.

"We feel gratified that we are able to recommend a man of Mr. Harwell's

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble, and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded and cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

Nine Big Planes Expected Today At Candler Field

Candler field authorities have been requested to provide accommodations for two squads of airplanes which are expected to arrive in Atlanta today. One will be composed of six giant Keystone bombers from Langley Field, Va., and the other of three planes on an industrial trip sponsored by the Portsmouth, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce. The army bombers will fly from Langley Field to Atlanta on a tactical flight, it was said. The personnel of the six planes will include 12 officers and 24 enlisted men. The Portsmouth planes include an American Moth monoplane, weighing less than 800 pounds. These planes are expected to hop off for Atlanta from Chattanooga, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

YOUTH CONFESSES HE KILLED FATHER

Toia, Kans., February 23.—(P)—The killing of William Bryson, 75, who last Monday was thought to have fallen to his death from a step-ladder in his store, was admitted today by his son, Ross, 19, police announced.

The youth confessed, authorities said, he hit his father with a chair to defend himself from an attack by the parent. A charge of murder was filed against the son.

TALMADGE AGAIN FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO HOLD MEETING

The meeting of the state board of entomology called for Thursday in the office of Governor L. G. Hardman by Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and ex-officio chairman of the board, was not held as scheduled due to the failure of the two associate members of the board to attend.

J. P. Hogg, of Buena Vista, and Dr. Lyman Veeder, of Cornelia, associate members, were unable to be present because of conflicting engagements. It was learned. This is the third meeting of the board called recently by Commissioner Talmadge and the third time the two associate commissioners failed to attend.

Texas Company's Airplane Lands At Candler Field Late Thursday

Piloted by Captain Frank M. Hawkes, the great all-metal Ford plane, which left Detroit at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning to be assigned for duty in the Atlanta district of the Texas company, arrived at Candler field at 3:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The plane, which will be used in good-will work for this district of the Texas company, was delayed in its trip by adverse weather conditions and other causes. It was forced to land at Lexington, Va., Tuesday night, and Wednesday afternoon again was forced down at Chateaufort, Ga. From that point it made the last short leg of the journey to Atlanta Thursday afternoon.

The plane—a three-motored, passenger-carrying plane of the type which the Texas company plans to utilize in good-will and field experiment work—will remain here several days and then will swing out on a tour of the southeast, operating within the Atlanta district. This comprises the states of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina.

FUGITIVE TORCH KILLER CONFESSES

her employers she was leaving for California. Police believe her intention was to marry secretly.

The writer of the letter said he left Newark, N. J., at 4:15 p. m. Monday and met Miss Brown in New York. Together they drove in his motor car to Lovers' Lane, a favorite rendezvous near Morrisstown. A large car already was occupying a choice parking place and the two drove around for a while, later returning to see the other car pull away. Then they parked their car in the shadows.

Had Two Bottles of Wine.

"I had two bottles of wine and we both drank some," the letter said.

"I asked her to marry me but she refused. She said she would not marry any man who had no money. I told her I had studied for a doctor.

"I tried to take advantage of her but she refused," the man wrote. He then had become enraged and struck her, the confession stated.

"Thinking I had killed her, I took gasoline from my car and poured it over her, lighting it and drove away," the letter continued.

The killer apparently had robbed Miss Brown before setting fire to her clothing, although his letter does not say so. But the fact that it mentions throwing away some "stuff" and that the writer returned securities which Miss Brown had had with her, was evidence enough of the robbery.

Threatens to End Life.

The letter added he drove to Newark on Tuesday and remained there until the time of mailing the letter. "I have a good car and new tires."

An Easy Way to Soothe and Heal Skin Eruptions

If you suffer from skin eruptions of any kind, pimples, itch, fever, ringworm, eczema, etc., a pleasant ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective parasite, germ-destroying and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and permanent relief.

Tetterine, by its clean, cooling, soothing, antiseptic effect, kills the parasites that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold by guarantee by all druggists at 60c for a large box, or sent direct, postpaid, upon receipt of price. Shuptrine Co., Dept. 4, Savannah, Ga.—(adv.)

and I am starting out to God knows where—to hell, I suppose—and by the time you get this letter I shall have a good start on you.

"I am going until my money gives out and when I am caught I have something with me to end it all before they can do anything. An revolver."

On receipt of the letter and identification of the bonds a score of detectives and officers were busy.

One group of officers came to New York to trace the bonds and to arrange for notification should any of the others which belonged to Miss Brown find their way into banking houses.

Start Dragging River.

Others began dragging the Passaic river into which "other stuff" mentioned as having been taken from Miss Brown and "thrown into the river" may have been tossed.

Persons known to have been in the vicinity of the murder scene Monday night were questioned in an effort to piece together a possible description of the automobile. From these it was decided the car was a large, fast, gray sedan or coupe and that the license number probably began with "T-5."

Consideration of the possibilities of flight led to the belief that the murderer probably was driving south through Philadelphia and perhaps Washington. His success in keeping hidden for some 35 hours in Newark and vicinity without arousing any suspicions, was believed likely to lead him to follow the large cities rather than the highways.

Hope to Find Slayer.

The letter came when investigators were holding a number of theories and fairly well directed suspicions but lacked anything concrete in the way of a clue. The letter caused detectives to become confident that the murderer now could be found as the letter fitted in with the suspicions they had had.

Those suspicious pointed to a sister of Miss Brown, whom the police believed was the mysterious "doctor" of whom she had spoken and whom she had met on various occasions on her nights off. They believed the sister was a man of education who had found Miss Brown and who wooed her in hopes of obtaining it.

The letter was written in a good hand, and plainly was the work of a man of some culture and education.

APPEAL TO LEAGUE IS LAST RESORT IN TYROL SPLIT

Vienna, February 23.—(P)—The possibility of an appeal to the League of Nations as the last resort in behalf of German subjects in the Tyrolean province annexed to Italy was indicated today by Chancellor Seipel, following upon pleas in parliament for better treatment of these subjects.

The scene in the house was described by its president as "a most impressive and solemn demonstration in the whole world." Tyrolean deputies

HARRISON OFFERS NEW SHOALS BILL

Washington, February 23.—(United News).—An amendment to the Norris resolution for government operation of the Muscle Shoals project directing the secretary of war to make or provide equitable distribution of power generated among municipalities within transmission distance, was introduced late today by Senator Harrison, Mississippi, democrat.

The amendment, introduced after Senator Norris, Nebraska, republican, and author of the resolution, opened debate on the measure, would have the effect of making it necessary for the government to sell part of the power resources of Muscle Shoals to private companies, notably the Alabama Power company, because of long-term contracts adjacent municipalities have to buy power from private companies.

Norris Defends Resolution.

Norris, in debate on the measure, charged that the American Farm Bureau federation, which is backing the proposal to lease the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant No. 2 to the American Cyanamid company for manufacture of fertilizer, has been "deliberately deceived" by its Washington representative, Chester Gray.

Norris declared he did not favor going into production of nitrate on a wholesale scale, because the cyanamid process which is now being used is obsolete. He said farmers could not receive cheap fertilizer by use of the present plant because the process is too expensive.

Earlier Norris defended his resolution, and pointed out that the government may have to sell the project to the Alabama Power company or other private interests if municipalities cannot purchase as much power as can be generated.

SPARTA CITIZENS HOLD MASS MEET

Sparks, Ga., February 23.—A mass meeting of citizens of this city was held Wednesday night in the school auditorium upon a call issued by the president of the local Parent-Teacher association. The purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the patrons of the school with improvements needed in the buildings and equipment and also to discuss plans for the entertainment of the delegates to the tenth district meet to be held here in April. Speeches were made by several interested men and women present.

gave that up and commenced defending bootleggers, finally entering that business himself.

State Attacks His "Temper."

The state continually sought to elicit from him admissions that he had a quick temper and was often involved in court actions.

He admitted being cited but excused himself on the ground that "it is sometimes profitable to argue with courts and juries" and he denied the quick temper testified to in letters written about him by other persons, which were introduced by the state.

When Walter K. Sibbald, assistant prosecutor, asked him if he believed himself sane Remus replied, "directly or indirectly there is no trace of insanity in my make-up."

"Legally I am unable to reconcile the fact that during my trial you contended I was sane, and now you turn around and insist that I am insane. I cannot understand how a public official can thus stultify himself."

Did Not Appear Insane.

Sibbald asked him if he had attempted to appear insane at his murder trial in Cincinnati. Remus said he had not and his defense was "momentary insanity" at the time he shot his wife.

Remus was placed on the stand when the state asked the court "why does the defense not let him testify?" Remus' attorney interrupted, saying "if you desire to question our client, here he is."

When court recessed tonight testimony was far from complete. Attorneys predicted he would continue during most of tomorrow's session. Four alienists and three prison guards have testified to his sanity since the hearing began.

LEAK IN GAS LINER PUTS CHAMBERLIN BACK ON GROUND

Palm Beach, Fla., February 23.—(P)—Clarence Chamberlin, flying his Sperry messenger monoplane, was forced to land here at 5 o'clock this afternoon en route from Tampa to Key West, because of a leaking gas line.

The aviator left Tampa at 2 o'clock for Key West, planning to stop over night and continue on a trip to Havana tomorrow. He left his plane here tonight and continued to Key West on a train.

rushed out of the barracks. Two were arrested and blackjacked by mine guards, but later released, she said.

The senators visited a school where strikebreakers had peppered the building with revolver and rifle fire and other buildings which had been shot up.

State police dispersed a crowd when the senators and the newspaper men went into a cafe for lunch. They feared violence when several hundred people congregated.

The strikers have signs around the mines reading: "Those that strike with us strike for freedom" and "Stay out of town, you dirty scabs." At Cloverdale mine, No. 8, a negro testified 32 miners slept in one railroad boxcar. He said he made $6.50 last week and board was $10, so the company would not let him quit.

The senators interviewed Father Fahrenbach, rector of Nativity Catholic church, Horton, Pa. He testified for the record as follows:

"Conditions are distressing. Operators are trying to incite violence by marching strikebreakers by striker's barracks when they can quarter them elsewhere."

"The country is not in a real reign of terror but conditions are very bad. People live in shacks not fit for woodsheds. American citizenship is being demoralized. Strikebreakers lay drunk in streets after every pay day."

The survey today and tomorrow is conducted exclusively by Philip Murray, vice president of the U. M. W. A. So mainly the miners state was presented. The operators plan to take the committee on a tour Saturday.

ORDER SCHOOL CAR TICKETS CHANGES

Following a conference held by James A. Perry, chairman of the state public service commission, and officials of the Georgia Power company, the practice of requiring certificates to purchase tickets for school children is abolished, effective immediately, it was learned Thursday at the office of the commission.

Under the new arrangement, Mr. Perry stated, the tickets can be purchased direct and the inconvenience of obtaining certificates from parents certifying that applicants for these tickets are bona fide school children is eliminated.

Tickets for school children under the same rules and regulations in going to and from schools as heretofore in effect, may be purchased at the main office of the company, 75 Marietta street, starter's office, 551-2 North Broad street; company's stores located at 821 Gordon street, S. W.; 1102 Euclid avenue, N. E.; 979 Peachtree street, N. E.; 2055 Peachtree road, N. E.; 142 Sycamore street, Decatur, Ga., and at all Jacobs' drug stores.

The 5-cent car ticket will be available as heretofore for school children, to be used while attending grammar and high school grades and will be honored on street cars on school days only between the hours of 7 a. m. and 4 p. m., except in cases where there are double and triple sessions, in which cases, when the company is notified by the school authorities, the tickets will be acceptable until 4:45 p. m., if presented at a car stop in the vicinity of a school holding double and triple sessions. Any number of tickets may be purchased in quantities at the rate of 20 tickets for $1. As announced in the commission's order providing for 5-cent fares for children, the intention was to revise the rules governing this practice in such manner as will best serve the convenience of those entitled to buy tickets at this rate and it was after some inspection and study that the commission reached the conclusion that the certificates heretofore required should be eliminated. The company agreed to this decision, but insists on the right to be heard later if, after full trial, it develops that the elimination of the restriction as to certificates is proven to be unsatisfactory.

Dr. Alexander To Attend World Missionary Meet

Leaving Atlanta Thursday afternoon, Dr. W. W. Alexander, director of the commission on interracial education, will sail from New York on Saturday on the S. S. Adriatic for the Mediterranean.

DR. W. W. ALEXANDER.

He is going as a delegate to the world missionary conference, which is to be held in Jerusalem March 18 to April 9. Dr. Alexander was invited to attend this conference by the international missionary council and will be one of 200 delegates including missionaries, educators, government representatives and others who will study various problems now confronting mission work of all denominations.

Dr. John B. Mott, of New York, is to preside at the conference. One of the principal subjects to be discussed at the conference, it is announced, will be the spirit of racial unrest now evidenced in many parts of the world. America, it is expected, will figure prominently in discussions of this subject, with Dr. Alexander contributing valuable suggestions gathered during his work for the interracial commission.

T. J. Woolter, Jr., former 'Atlantaian, now of the faculty of the University of North Carolina, will present a report on racial unrest, while Dr. John Hope, president of Morehouse college, of Atlanta, will tell of the achievements of the interracial movement in the south. Bishop W. B. Vanechamp, also of Atlanta, will attend the conference both as representative of the M. E. church, south, and as a member of the executive committee of the interracial commission.

Dr. Alexander was forced by pressure of work to refuse an invitation to tour the principal mission lands after the Jerusalem conference and, returning by way of Egypt, will sail from Cherbourg on April 21, reaching New York April 26 and Atlanta two days later.

SOVIET CHIEFTAIN URGES BIG ARMY

Moscow, February 23.—(U. S. News.)—The soviet government knows that the "next war will require not only the army but the entire strength of the soviet union," Commissar of War Voroshilov said today on the tenth anniversary of the founding of the red army.

"Capitalistic nations are feverishly preparing for war by arming themselves," he said. "We must strengthen our own army to meet necessary contingencies." While Voroshilov was talking in terms of war, the League of Nations' security committee had before it a soviet proposal looking to complete disarmament of all land, sea and air forces.

"The soviet government is conducting an obstinate fight for peace but as long as she is surrounded by capitalist nations, war is a danger which will always hang over us," Voroshilov said.

Formal celebrations of the army's tenth anniversary will be held Sunday, but the chief of the army is splashing in red bunting. The newspapers devoted columns today in praise of the army and soviet officials. Not a word was said of Leon Trotsky, former commissar of war and organizer of the army, who, defeated politically, is in banishment in Turkistan.

SUMMER UNIFORMS TO BE READY SOON FOR LOCAL POLICE

Although winter is still in full swing, thoughts of Atlanta policemen are now turning to spring, as evidenced by the action of the uniform committee of the department Thursday in awarding a contract to Hirsch Brothers for the department's summer uniforms.

A plan to have the motorcycle officers wear Sam Browne belts and outside pistol holsters is now under discussion but definite action has not been taken. The belts would give the motorcycle men a decidedly snappy appearance, it was pointed out. The contract calls for metropolitan

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonard found the remedy and called his prescription HEMOROID. He tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 90 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Mercer Student Latest To Catch Freak Card Hand

Macon, Ga., February 23.—(P.)—George Armes, Mercer university student, held thirteen spades in a bridge game Thursday night, according to reports from the Sigma Pi fraternity house, where the contest took place.

Armes' partner, Ocie Seymour, the dealer, opened with one diamond. The next player bid a heart and Armes bid a spade. Raises continued until Armes got to seven spades, which was doubled and redoubled.

Armes trumped the first lead, with a deuce. Then he showed the other twelve spades and registered a grand slam.

Arkansas Deputy Dies In Gun Fight

Marion, Ark., February 23.—(P.)—A gun fight in a negro cabin four miles south of Crawfordsville today resulted in the death of a deputy sheriff and a negro, whom the officer and another deputy were seeking to arrest on a grand larceny charge for a cotton theft.

Deputy T. H. Williford, 43, went to the front of the cabin and knocked and Deputy C. L. Goad went to the rear. Dave Jackson, the negro named in the warrant, ran to the rear door, pistol in hand, Sheriff Claude Cooper was informed, and exchanged shots with Goad.

Dashes Out Front Door.
Apparently wounded, he began firing in both directions and finally made a dash for the front door, where Williford was shooting at him. Indications were, the sheriff said, that he leaped out the front door, placed his pistol against Williford's breast and fired.

Running to his companion's aid, Goad assisted Williford to an automobile and started for a doctor, but the deputy died a few minutes later. When other officers arrived at the scene they found Jackson dead about 200 feet from his cabin. His pistol had been emptied and on the barrel was a notch, apparently placed there some time ago.

DRY RAID' KILLING TRIAL NEARS END

Miami, Fla., February 23.—(AP)—The case of five coast guardsmen on trial in federal court on a state charge of second degree murder for the killing of "Red" Shannon, rum runner, probably will be in the hands of the jury by noon tomorrow or soon after.

Both state and defense rested this afternoon after a featureless day in which evidence amounted to little more than repetition of what had gone before. Judge Hunt on request of the prosecutor gave orders that the jury be taken tonight to look over the scene of the rum boat chase in Biscayne bay, off the Flamingo hotel yacht basin.

Two-Year-Old Murder.

The shooting occurred two years ago tomorrow night. Richard W. Gray, weather bureau meteorologist, said weather and visibility conditions on the occasion of the chase could be practically duplicated tonight. Visibility was a point at issue. The defendants, Lieutenant Phillip E. Shaw, and four enlisted men, Otis Meeking, Edward McAuld, B. C. Smith and Paul S. Austin, were indicted in state court. The case was transferred to federal court and assigned United States Attorney General Norman J. Morrison, assigned to the defense. The state retained its status as prosecutor.

U. S. STILL NEUTRAL IN NICARAGUA RACE

Washington, February 23.—(AP)—The intention of the United States to maintain an absolutely impartial attitude in Nicaragua in the forthcoming elections there was reiterated in a statement today by Secretary Kellogg.

"In view of the numerous rumors and newspaper articles evidently of a propagandist nature which have come to my attention," said Kellogg's statement, "I desire once more to state with the utmost emphasis that the United States is maintaining and will continue to maintain an attitude of absolute impartiality in all matters relating to the forthcoming Nicaraguan election. The United States will favor neither any candidate nor any party in that election."

COALITION CANDIDATE URGED BY PRESS

Managua, Nicaragua, February 23.—(AP)—Many of the native newspapers are advocating a coalition candidate for the presidency, on whom all factions might be able to unite, but American officials here see little chance of such a solution of the problem.

General Jose Maria Moncada already has been nominated by the liberals and has started his campaign. The conservatives have not yet selected their candidate.

HANCOCK COUNTY TO ORGANIZE ALL COLORED FARMERS

Sparta, Ga., February 23.—The negro farmers of Hancock county are being organized by E. L. Cooper, farm demonstration agent for negro work in this county, and will hold councils all over the county between now and the planting season.

Agent Cooper has appointed a committee from each militia district in the county of outstanding negro farmers and will make an effort to improve their farming conditions this year. Since there are many negro farmers in the county, it is imperative that they have someone to teach them to farm under the best conditions, as cotton cannot be grown profitably any more. Many have returned from the north and as soon as they become accustomed to the new mode of farming the yield in this county it is expected will be greatly increased.

Because his bulldog was not muzzled, M. Capelli, local musician, was required to pay a fine of $15 and costs Thursday in police court. Holloway held, however, that the dog's disposition was not in the issue, as the city ordinance requires all dogs to be muzzled. Residents of Capelli's community make the complaint.

A short-weight trick practiced with a bit of chewing gum and a piece of iron was charged to C. Troy, of 553 Humphries street, in police court Thursday. Recorder A. W. Callaway held $500 bond on charges of cheating and swindling.

Officials of the Tennessee Egg company, of 139 Spring street, S. W., testified that Troy attached the gum and weight to the scales when he purchased chickens from the company, so that an extra amount of poultry was obtained.

BIG NAVY PROGRAM SLASHED BY HOUSE

In two years, that each year the navy request congress for funds to carry out the construction and that a failure by congress to provide funds in any year would not cause authorization for the construction to lapse.

Representative Britten, republican, Illinois, said these provisions would insure the building of the ships and prevent them from becoming a "paper fleet."

Mr. Wilbur had requested that no specific time limit be set for completion of the ships and President Coolidge subsequently was represented as opposing the measure.

The committee also adopted a provision that "in the event of an agreement for further limitation of naval armament by an international conference to which the United States is a signatory power, the president hereby is authorized and empowered to suspend in whole or in part any of the naval legislation authorized under this act."

Include Salvage Ships.

After considerable discussion over the inclusion of two salvage ships, the committee voted to direct the naval secretary to prepare plans and costs of such ships and submit them for consideration. These ships would be of use for both submarine and other sea disasters.

Representative Vinson, of Georgia, democratic leader on the committee, said that the 15 cruisers would give a total tonnage in this class of 305,000 tons, or approximately the amount proposed in the original American Geneva proposal.

The aircraft carrier would be of 13,500 tons displacement as compared with the 10,000 tons displacement of each of the two new carriers, Lexington and Saratoga.

Butler, Vinson and a number of other committee members proposed a 16-ship program would be approved by the house, although it was uncertain when the subject will be called up on the floor.

Without Silent on Action.

Secretary Wilbur declined to comment on the action of the committee other than to say that if the navy attempted to replace its tonnage, ship by ship, the law of averages would require the construction of 184 vessels instead of the 71 recommended. He explained that the average of each of the two new carriers, Lexington and Saratoga, would be necessary every five years to replace one-fourth of the navy's total of 736 vessels.

Assistant Secretary Warner, in charge of naval aviation, expressed surprise that the committee so regarded the importance of cruisers as to place them on a 15-to-1 ratio with aircraft carriers. He said he was personally chagrined as he felt he had failed to make the committee realize the importance of aircraft in naval development.

answer the senate Teapot Dome committee's question as to whether he knew anybody who got bonds out of the Continental Trading company deal. He took an appeal and it may be a year before there is a final decision.

Justice Bailey told Stewart he had sworn to tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth" and then refused to tell the whole truth about the bonds.

Senate Committee Active.

While this was going on the senate Teapot Dome committee which Stewart joined was digging still further into the mysteries of the Continental deal and got its first authentic information as to the profits which Harry M. Blackmer, the missing oil witness, got. Blackmer fled to Europe in 1923 and has refused to return to testify in the oil cases about the Continental deal in which he was a ring-leader.

His attorney, Karl C. Schuyler, of Denver, said Blackmer received $763,000 Liberty bonds out of the profits of the Continental oil resale deal and that these were now held in a New York bank. Blackmer having transferred possession of them to his attorney, just before he fled the country, fearing civil suit for their recovery. Schuyler said he met Blackmer in July, 1925, and was told about the transaction, out of which Harry F. Sinclair got the $233,000 in bonds which he afterward gave to Albert B. Fall, and the $75,000 in bonds which he received from committee's 1920 campaign deficit.

James E. O'Neil, another ring-leader in the deal, got at least $800,000 out of the deal and later gave the bonds to his company in an effort to make restitution, said Schuyler. He fled to Europe where they both have remained since.

Receives Call From Fugitive.

Schuyler said that on his advice Blackmer had just called him from Paris authorizing him to make a statement about the matter. Under this law any one who offers for sale or sells a covered package of bonds is required to label the package and have the grade and standard plainly marked on the container.

FLOVILLA PLANS SHORT ROAD ROUTE MACON TO ATLANTA

Flovilla, Ga., February 23.—(Special)—Attended by the county commissioners and representatives of the state highway department, citizens of Flovilla at a mass meeting Wednesday discussed plans for establishing a highway through the city which would prove to be the shortest route from Atlanta to Macon.

Flovilla is located on the Southern railway, 47 miles from Atlanta and 35 miles from Macon, and exponents of the Flovilla highway idea point out that such a plan would give motorists the shortest possible drive between the two cities.

PROHIBITION OFFICIALS LOCATE BIG STILL BY TRAILING BOY

The story of how dry agents located a mountain still by trailing an armed 13-year-old youth with hounds, and of how a lone dry officer held four men at bay with a revolver until help arrived, was revealed Thursday in reports received by Howard P. Wright, deputy prohibition administrator.

Agents W. M. Weaver, J. B. Wallace and F. C. Crow traced the mountain boy with hounds and located a large still in Dawson county, when the youth left his home to deliver lunch to one of the still operators, it was reported.

Agent J. W. Epley reported surprising four men at a still 15 miles south of Cornelia, and holding them at bay until Agent J. R. Kinsey arrived.

not granted, but, on the other hand, an additional burden was added to the peach industry, which is already heavily taxed by freight rates.

Those scheduled to appear before the commission in Washington, following the decision at the meeting Thursday, are Eugene Talmadge, R. B. Clegg, rate expert of the department of agriculture; J. H. Duke, A. J. Evans, of Fort Valley; R. J. Berckmans, of Augusta; J. S. Peters and W. C. Bewley, of Macon; F. H. Arnold, of Newnan; W. C. Britt, of Thomaston; P. W. Godfrey, of Covington, and C. J. Hood, of Commerce.

An enactment of the last legislature provided for standardization of Georgia apples and peaches. Under this law any one who offers for sale or sells a covered package of peaches is required to label the package and have the grade and standard plainly marked on the container.

A resolution was passed requesting Commissioner Talmadge to name a committee of 12 peach growers, distributors or others interested to determine the sizes of peaches to be included in the various standards, with recommendation that peaches not smaller than 1 3/4 inches in diameter be called United States number ones and peaches not less than two inches in diameter be classed as United States fancy number ones.

FOURTH MAN HELD IN STILL AMBUSH

Augusta, Ga., February 23.—(AP)—With the arrest Thursday afternoon of Will Walden, white man, of Columbia county, four men are being held in solitary confinement in Richmond county jail on the charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting in Columbia county Wednesday of Walter R. Tolbert, federal prohibition agent.

Tolbert was shot to death following a raid he and Columbia county officers carried out on two illicit stills in the woods of the county. D. Fuller, one of the county officers, was wounded in the arm by the unidentified sniper who opened fire on the officers with high power rifles.

In addition to the latest arrest, the three men held are Burley Adams, S. N. Bessley and Henry Walden, who were taken in custody late Wednesday.

abled and had to be jacked up by a wrecker service truck, before the automobile could be removed from under the front end.

Witnesses said the slumery streets probably were responsible for the crash. The driver of the automobile, it was stated, seemed to have been blinded by the lights of the trolley car.

Call Officers Hunt.
Call Officers J. A. Brown and C. E. McCarty suffered wrenches back early Thursday night when the automobile in which they were seated on Washington street, near Hunter, was struck by another car, driven by Dr. W. A. Upchurch, of 1274 Oxford road.

The officers reported that they had stopped the police car preparatory to answering a call, when a street car crashed into Dr. Upchurch's automobile, causing it to crash into the police machine. The street car was in charge of Operator M. R. Welch, who stated that the wheels on the street car became locked, causing it to skid into Dr. Upchurch's automobile. No cars were made. Neither automobile was badly damaged.

A large plate glass window in the front of the drug store of J. B. Vaughn, at 418 Semmore avenue, near Moreland, was demolished and a show case on the inside of the store was damaged when an automobile, owned by George Cole, city policeman, crashed into it early Thursday night.

According to police reports, the automobile was being driven by Cleveland Cole, of 1265 Hardee street, son of the police officer, and crashed into the plate glass window as young Cole attempted to "shut loose" the starter gear by moving the car while it was in gear and with the ignition switch on. No case was made pending an investigation by Patrolman J. D. Dorsett.

ATHENS WOMAN GIVEN $100,000

Macon, Ga., February 23.—(AP)—An order signed by Judge W. J. Tilson, of the United States district court here Thursday, gives Mrs. Jesse H. Wilkins, wife of John G. Wilkins, former Athens bank president, $100,000 stock in the Belgrade Manufacturing company, of Winder, Ga.

Creditors of Mrs. Wilkins' husband attempted to seize this stock after the collapse of three Athens banks about three years ago, her husband being president of each of the banking houses.

The Belgrade Manufacturing company manufactures overalls.

The wife of Mrs. Wilkins to recover the property that she claimed as hers took the form of a suit against the American Securities company, the sheriff of Bartow county, the Maryland Trust company and a Mrs. Cheney, principally against the sheriff, to prevent the disposal of the stock.

The benefit of creditors Mrs. Wilkins claimed against the stock of other things that her husband owned her $102,000 and she held the stock as security.

Judge Tilson was designated by the circuit court of appeals to try the case. Judge Samuel H. Sibley of the northern district of Georgia disqualifying himself.

Judge Tilson referred the case to J. N. Talley, as special master, and the evidence was taken, a report being filed recently in Atlanta. This finding of the master was in favor of Mrs. Wilkins.

Attorneys John R. Gamble, of Athens, Ga., and William Hart Shibley, of Atlanta, representing Mrs. Wilkins, and Max Michael and Lamar C. Rucker, of Athens, for the defendants, came here today and presented oral arguments. Judge Tilson, following which Judge Tilson wrote the order approving the finding of the master.

"It"—

This is it. "It" being not a matter of sex appeal but rather a test applied to the opening day of the annual southern conference basketball tournament at the city auditorium under the auspices of the Atlanta Athletic club.

There are still several days left to pick winners, but after tonight there will be but eight to pick from and that will cut the number of sure-fire selections half in two. Right now you can find all kinds of experts who can pick the ultimate

After talking with several of the coaches of the teams already in the grounds we have reached the conclusion that nobody can win the planned tournament. Of course, I haven't told them all yet, but the interviewed were an expression closely approximating the words "Lucky Chaney in 'The Phantom of the Opera.'" And all seemed about as "chancey" regarding their chances as we would be, if we were matched.

Strangely enough, none of them could just exactly name the team that WOULD win, but they all deprecated their own chances. Judging from what the coaches have to say, the Athletic club will have to install a hospital in connection with the auditorium to take care of the maimed, crippled and ailing players. If you believe their stories (and it would be very ill-mannered to disbelieve), you must conclude that most of the games will be played with not more than four men on each side and those will be stumbling from one end of the court to the other supported by adhesive tape, crutches and disinfectant mouth wash.

It's just terrible, that's what it is. Here we have all the tickets printed, all the seats numbered and even the officials named, and now it appears that nobody can win, because of injuries.

Sam, the office boy, in looking over our shoulder, discovered erred the proper passage and said, "But if nobody wins, that will make a liar out of you, 'cause you said somebody WOULD win." For very-obvious reasons no such happening can make a liar out of us, but we hasten to correct the impression before Sam bursts a blood vessel trying to figure how the tournament can end without somebody winning.

Anyhow, Ben Cotran has already said that Ole Miss, his famous dark horse, will win and that must settle the matter. Casting about

Just to show that there are folks in the world who know just what is going to happen at the Auditorium today, we reproduce here a letter from someone signing his name O. F. C. There are several meanings for these initials, but in this case they

The winners of the eight games today will be as follows
(just like that, it's so easy):

Alabama will beat Virginia.
Ole Miss will beat North Carolina State.
Kentucky will beat South Carolina.
Mississippi Argies will beat W. & L.

Auburn will beat Clemson.
Georgia will beat V. M. I.
North Carolina will beat L. S. U.
Georgia Tech will beat Florida.

Editor's Note.—These initials sound very suspicious, but one never can tell.

Trade in your OLD TIRES this week

If the tread on your tires is as smooth as a skull—if the fabric is starting to show through—or if your tires have simply lost the sharp, firm grip of tough new rubber—TRADE THEM IN FOR NEW GOODRICH SILVERTOWNS!

Sell us your unused mileage for all it is worth. The service that is still left in your old tires will reduce the price of new Silvertowns. It actually costs you nothing extra to get rid of the danger of blowouts—protect yourself from skidding and punctures, by putting the thick, strong, safety tread of new Goodrich Silvertowns on your car. All makes of tires taken in trade. Bring them in—get our price on them now.

SEE HOW SILVERTOWNS PROTECT YOU AND GIVE MORE MILEAGE

When you get new Goodrich Silvertowns—you are getting the tread which protects you from rapid, uneven tread-wear, and gives you valuable safety features.

Here is why this tread is important. Balloon tires are soft. Their tread flattens against the road. The center yields, letting the "shoulders" of the tread come down against the ground.

So the center needs to be flexible—and the shoulders need to be massive. Also, the shoulders need to have the sharp-edged, all-direction grip of those blocks of rubber which you find on Goodrich Silvertowns.

Now look at the picture. See how the center grooves can come together when the glass is pressed down—just as the tire presses down on the road. No distortion there. No crowding. No reason for "piling up." No danger of choppy, uneven, rapid wear which tire men call "cupping."

When you trade your old tires for Goodrich Silvertowns, you get this mileage-giving tread, plus important features which cannot be shown in pictures.

For instance, every Goodrich Silvertown has the strength of stretch-matched cords—close to 5,000 of them—pressed full of protecting rubber to give longer life and freedom from internal friction.

And every Goodrich Silvertown is toughened from inside and outside both, by the Goodrich Water Cure. This Goodrich process anchors the whole tire together with tough, strong, fully-cured rubber.

HOW YOU TRADE OLD TIRES FOR NEW

You know what you do with your old car when it starts to give trouble or gets to looking "down at the heel." You trade it in for a new one.

That's what you can do with your tires this week. We have a market for used tires—and re-conditioned tires.

If you bring them in before they blow out, many motorists are glad to get them. That's why we can buy your unused mileage.

You bring in your tires—find out the price we allow for them—use the money your old tires are worth in buying new tires—and ride away on new Goodrich Silvertowns.

Don't miss this opportunity. Get new Silvertowns now and be protected during the wettest, muddiest, dangerous months of driving.

Mrs. Tom Brooke Explains Work Of Camp Fire Girls

Mrs. Tom Brooke, president of Camp Fire Girls, in addressing a group of prominent clubwomen at the Georgian Terrace Wednesday, explained the necessity for the drive for funds for a girl's camp to be located near Toccoa, Ga. Mrs. Brooke stated that from personal experience and study of girl psychology she learned that when girls reach the 'teen' age they want to "belong" to something and secret clubs are formed. These little clubs are usually built around the personality of one girl, her influence may be good or may be bad and sooner or later the club dies, but that influence remains. Camp Fire Girls' organization offers entertainment for young girls and keeps them busy by teaching various arts and crafts, the ages ranging from 11 to 16 years. Definite programs under trained and carefully selected leadership make up club meetings. The law of Camp Fire Girls, "Seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy," hold on to health, glorify work and be happy," indicates the high moral and social ideals of the organization. There are definite activities for the groups, honors to be won and ranks to attain. The symbolism used as a foundation is that of early American, or the Indian, each symbol representing some honor or ideal. Each girl is given an Indian name which is significant of her own ideals or ambitions; each group has an Indian name and the ceremonial robes, which are made by the girls are stenciled in symbols representing the honors she has won. They are ever mindful of the Camp Fire Girl watchword, "Work, Health and Love."

Programs and activities of this organization lead to one big issue, that of training young girls in the correct habits of thinking and living.

As to why a camp is needed, Mrs. Brooke explained that girls reach an age to learn to think for themselves and depend on themselves. Camp life and discipline give girls self-reliance, develop initiative and a very high sense of honor and afford wholesome outdoor life for growing girls with a camp away from home offering a vacation to a girl who otherwise would spend a summer in the city, applying especially to the underprivileged girl not able to afford an ultra expensive camp. With the funds of the $30,000 being asked for in this drive, adequate camping facilities will be constructed on the 187-acre tract of land at Toccoa Falls and for $1 a day a girl can spend a happy and healthy vacation. The Community Chest contributes to the maintenance fund of the Camp Fire Girls but does not furnish capital to pay for organization for building or remodeling.

Mrs. Brooke states that judges of juvenile courts throughout the country have been quoted as saying that no boy or girl who ever belonged to a club for character building has ever been sent to corrective institutions.

The law of Camp Fire Girls, "Seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy," hold on to health, glorify work and be happy," indicates the high moral and social ideals of the organization. There are definite activities for the groups, honors to be won and ranks to attain. The symbolism used as a foundation is that of early American, or the Indian, each symbol representing some honor or ideal. Each girl is given an Indian name which is significant of her own ideals or ambitions; each group has an Indian name and the ceremonial robes, which are made by the girls are stenciled in symbols representing the honors she has won. They are ever mindful of the Camp Fire Girl watchword, "Work, Health and Love."

Programs and activities of this organization lead to one big issue, that of training young girls in the correct habits of thinking and living.

As to why a camp is needed, Mrs. Brooke explained that girls reach an age to learn to think for themselves and depend on themselves. Camp life and discipline give girls self-reliance, develop initiative and a very high sense of honor and afford wholesome outdoor life for growing girls with a camp away from home offering a vacation to a girl who otherwise would spend a summer in the city, applying especially to the underprivileged girl not able to afford an ultra expensive camp. With the funds of the $30,000 being asked for in this drive, adequate camping facilities will be constructed on the 187-acre tract of land at Toccoa Falls and for $1 a day a girl can spend a happy and healthy vacation. The Community Chest contributes to the maintenance fund of the Camp Fire Girls but does not furnish capital to pay for organization for building or remodeling.

Mrs. Brooke states that judges of juvenile courts throughout the country have been quoted as saying that no boy or girl who ever belonged to a club for character building has ever been sent to corrective institutions.

Mrs. Brooke, president of Camp Fire Girls, in addressing a group of prominent clubwomen at the Georgian Terrace Wednesday, explained the necessity for the drive for funds for a girl's camp to be located near Toccoa, Ga. Mrs. Brooke stated that from personal experience and study of girl psychology she learned that when girls reach the 'teen' age they want to "belong" to something and secret clubs are formed. These little clubs are usually built around the personality of one girl, her influence may be good or may be bad and sooner or later the club dies, but that influence remains. Camp Fire Girls' organization offers entertainment for young girls and keeps them busy by teaching various arts and crafts, the ages ranging from 11 to 16 years. Definite programs under trained and carefully selected leadership make up club meetings. ## KELLOGG CHARGES EUROPEAN PRESS IS UNFAIR TO U. S.

Washington, February 23.—(United News.)—Ambassador Myron T. Herrick's assertion in a Paris speech that the European press had been unfair to the United States in its reports of the Pan-American conference at Havana, was indorsed today by Secretary of State Kellogg.

Kellogg believes foreign writers attempted to create a clear case of imperialism against the United States. It was suggested that in this effort foreign writers had emphasized every allegedly disruptive tendency indicated at the conference, particularly the idea that Latin-American nations had gone to Havana to fight the United States.

PLANS ANNOUNCED BY SUPREME KINGDOM

Tulsa, Okla., February 23.—Decrying intolerance and denying that his new order, the Supreme Kingdom, would foster it, Edward Young Clarke, former chief organizer of the Ku Klux Klan, described the new order as a "fellowship" to an audience of 600 at the Washington's birthday banquet here last night. This meeting, which was Clarke's first public appearance since the founding of the new order, was also the occasion for the exhibiting of the plans for the Sovereign Fortress building to be built in this city and of the various branches of the institution which will be erected in different parts of the country, notably in Chattanooga, atop Lookout mountain; in Atlanta and an "international temple" in Washington, D. C.

The meeting was presided over by former Senator J. W. Harrell, of Oklahoma. Dr. J. B. Eskridge, former president of Oklahoma A. & M. college and now commander of the Sovereign Fortress in Tulsa, announced that the movement was amply financed and that millions of dollars will be available, not as a loan but in gifts, when the order begins to function. Mrs. Martha Yoh Marson, of Indianapolis, national secretary of the order, spoke on the woman's phase of the movement.

CAROLINA HOTEL BLAZE TAKES TOLL OF 3 LIVES

Shelby, N. C., February 23.—(AP)—Three men were killed and a dozen or more persons were more or less seriously hurt in a fire that today destroyed the principal business block in this city, causing an estimated loss of $500,000.

The blaze was extinguished only through the aid of fire companies from Charlotte, Gaston, Kings Mountain and Cherokee. For hours firemen and employees of the Central hotel, in which all of the loss of life occurred, believed that the death list might be higher. It was only after a careful search of the smoldering ruins that the death list was fixed at three.

Dr. J. R. Henderson, Charlotte, salesman for a wholesale drug house, was found dead a few feet from a fire escape, where he had fallen while attempting to reach safety.

H. H. Carmichael, income tax inspector for the internal revenue bureau with headquarters at Charlotte, was found dead with his shoes on but otherwise unclothed. Henry Kerr, an employee of the hotel, died of injuries received when he leaped from the third floor of the flaming structure after arousing the guests.

A. B. Stagg, a Durham hardware salesman, was seriously injured in jumping from the third story, while W. L. Epps, Jr., of Charlotte, was hurt in the same manner but not badly.

Rochester, N. Y., February 23.—(United News.)—With a new brewery in full operation and a secret wine cellar stocked to its ceiling beams, the German club, headquarters of the United German-American Societies, which was raided December 24, was restocked today.

Three arrests were made. Prohibition agents visited the hall and said they found, working under a full head of steam and spirit, two floors and the cellar of the building, a wildcat brewery. In the cellar the agents discovered a secret wine cellar which had been cleverly built into the basement since the last raid. Two thousand quarts of wine, bearing labels and caps said to be counterfeits of imported trade markings, were secreted in the cellar, as were two bags of champagne.

MYERS' CHARGES HIT BY ATTORNEYS

Washington, February 23.—(AP)—The testimony of Abram F. Myers, federal trade commissioner, as to his activities as an assistant attorney general in the celebrated bread merger case was further contradicted today before a senate judiciary subcommittee, which investigated the entry of the consent decree in that case.

United States District Attorney Amos W. W. Woodcock and three other Baltimore attorneys added their denial to that of Federal District Judge Morris A. Soper that at no time the decree was entered Myers told the court that the federal trade commission would dismiss the Clayton act case pending before it against the Continental Baking company.

Borah Exonerates Judge.

The other attorneys were Jesse N. Bowen, counsel for the Ward Food Products company, which was dissolved by the decree; Charles Howard, who represented the Continental Baking company; and George W. Williams, counsel for the General Baking corporation. They flatly contradicted Myers' testimony first given at the original inquiry in 1926 and reiterated a few days ago.

At the conclusion of the hearing Chairman Borah, of the subcommittee, said that so far as he was concerned Judge Soper had been exonerated in the case.

SYNOPSIS

Ether Rowe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius Ether treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Ether finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Ether learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Ether is taken on the case as day nurse. Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

A MASS OF CONTRADICTIONS. Somehow this explanation was very agreeable to Roger's ruffled sensibilities.

"Coming down to dinner?" he inquired, feeling a glow of regret at having misjudged her.

"Yes, but I want to make a quick change first."

"I'll wait for you."

He didn't know why he said that, either. It came out unbidden. Ridiculous the interest he was taking in this girl whom he had not set eyes on before this morning. Yet there it was, he felt a distinct desire for her company and a great curiosity to know if he could again inspire that warm, becoming blush. It still looked somewhat to think that she had been able to blush for Holiday, the little beast wasn't worth it.

Lighting a cigarette he strolled to the window at the end of the hall near his own door, and parting the curtains looked out. Through the black fretwork of the acacias showed the thin crescent of the new moon, clean and sharp as a knife-blade. He made a wry face. He had seen the new moon through both trees and glass!

"It's a good thing I'm not superstitious," he reflected, yet for all his avowal he was conscious of a sudden qualm, which irritated him.

A heavy inelastic step creaked across the floor behind him. Turning he found Dr. Sartorius beside him. The gravity of the large face and his bald, slanting forehead and light-lashed eyes slightly alarmed him.

"Is anything wrong, doctor?" he asked quickly.

"No, no, nothing at all. I merely promised to tell you that your father would like you to attend to a small matter for him in the morning, before you go out. I believe he wants you to open the safe which he tells me is in his dressing room and get out the copy of his will which is there."

"His will?" repeated Roger, slightly dismayed.

"There is no reason for alarm. He appears anxious to glance through his will in order to refresh his memory, that is all. It seems better to humor him. I fancy there is some point he would like to discuss with you now you are here."

"Very well, I'll come in the first thing after breakfast."

"In spite of himself the thought took root that the old man believed he was going to die."

Having finished a late and lazy breakfast next morning Roger ascended to his father's room. He found the old man lying tranquil if weak, his temperature fallen to normal with that curious abruptness characteristic of typhoid. The doctor was about to leave the room, while the nurse, very fresh in a clean apron and cap, was putting the room to rights. She smiled at Roger, who was no longer a stranger. The two had had a long talk over their coffee the evening before, and later with Miss Clifford had indulged in a mild out-throat bridge.

"The doctor said something to me last night about your wanting the safe opened," ventured Roger, after several minutes' conversation with the invalid during which no mention was made of the matter in question.

The old man's face looked completely blank, he appeared struggling to recall. At last he nodded slowly.

"I believe I did speak of it yesterday, though it's not of great importance. It occurred to me I might as well glance through it now you know the one I mean. I made a slight alteration in it this winter. Something Sartorius said reminded me of it."

Roger felt relieved. There was no evidence of his father's expecting an immediate decease, he seemed calm and fairly cheerful.

"Right you are, I'll attend to the matter now, if you'll tell me the combination, I don't remember it."

"Give me a piece of paper, I'll write it down."

Roger handed him an envelope and his fountain pen, and watched while the ill man laboriously traced the figures of a simple combination.

"You will find the will in the top left-hand pigeon-hole," Sir Charles instructed him, lying back once more and wearily closing his eyes.

In the dressing room Roger discovered Esther, who was occupied in arranging flowers.

"Here's what you are looking for," she told him. "It's been moved to make room for my diet kitchen."

She indicated a small safe almost hidden by a white tiled refrigerator and an enameled stand which bore a spirit-lamp and an array of shining saucers.

Roger knelt on the floor and examined the knobs and dial. Then raising his head he sniffed the air, his nostrils detecting an elusive fragrance, exotic, vague, familiar.

"There seems a good deal of scent about here," he remarked. "It isn't yours, is it?"

Somehow she didn't look as if she would use that particular perfume, or indeed any perfume while in working clothes. She laughed and shook her head.

"Oh, no, it isn't mine. It's Lady Clifford's. I could tell it anywhere now."

"I can't see where it comes from," he told her. "When I arrived I found one of her handkerchiefs on the floor behind the refrigerator. You wouldn't think an odor could be so lasting, would you?"

He busied himself with the combination.

"I suppose she had been in here seeing about the milk. My aunt says before my father was taken ill."

"Who, Lady Clifford? Did she?"

He did not look up, and so missed the fresh instance of Lady Clifford's solicitude for her husband's welfare, and trying to make it fit in with the idea that had come to her on the previous day. More than ever the Frenchwoman appeared to her a mass of contradictions; try as she would she felt she could never fathom her.

A moment later Roger brought a narrow folded document and handed it to his father.

"Is this it?"

"Yes, quite right. Lay it here on the bed beside me. I'll run over it presently. I suppose you'll be off somewhere now?"

"I thought of running down to the tennis courts on the chance of getting a few sets. I'll not be back for lunch."

"Know any one to play with?"

"Yes, I ran into Graham and Marjorie Kent at the casino yesterday. They said they'd like to play, and will bring a fourth."

"Well, make the most of your holiday. You've earned it."

It was high praise. In this one simple sentence the old fellow, hard, un-demonstrative, more than a bit "Lancashire," expressed the utmost approval and affection of which he was capable. Understanding what it meant, Roger showed with appreciation, yet he contented himself with a bare "Thanks," because anything more would have caused his father acute embarrassment.

Esther, who had been in the room, now withdrew in quest of more flowers. When she was out of earshot the invalid spoke, with a slight movement of the head in her direction.

"Nice girl, that," he said laconically. For an instant his son's eyes met his.

"I'm inclined to share your opinion," the younger man agreed with conviction.

THE PROBLEM

The sums total of the figures on each of the three elephants pictured herewith are to be given as a solution. You can find the sum total of each elephant by adding up the figures of each. The figures 1, 2, and 3 in the circles in the upper left hand corners of the elephants are simply to identify them. These figures have nothing to do with the elephants' weights.

In submitting your solution you must identify the three elephants by their numbers and give the weights of each. A complete solution means that you are to find the sum total of each elephant. It takes the sum total of each to make one solution. This is a game of skill and not a guessing contest.

There are no "1's" or "ciphers" in the elephants. There are no groups of figures, that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown. There are no "23's," "55's" or "97's," or like groups. If you find a "2" and a "3" are written so closely together that it looks like "23" it means that "2" and "3" are to be added—just as you would if they were an inch apart.

There are no figures in the picture except in the bodies of the elephants. The tops of the "6's" are distinctly curved, and the bottom of the "9's" are straight or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the charts.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. This contest is open only to residents of Georgia and adjoining states. Both old and new subscribers may enter. No employee or member of an employee's family of The Atlanta Constitution will be allowed to participate in the contest, nor any of the prize winners that have won prizes in excess of $100.00 in any of the elephant contests heretofore conducted by The Atlanta Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they may desire, provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one prize. Once registered a solution cannot be changed. NO SOLUTION UNACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

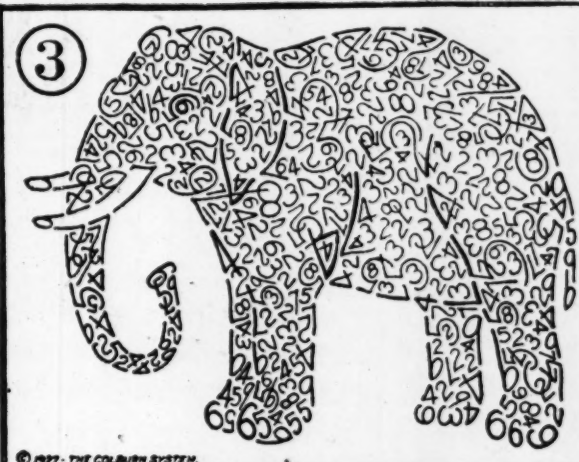

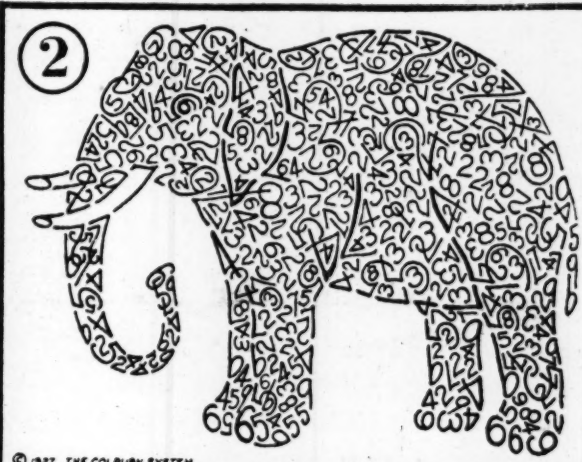

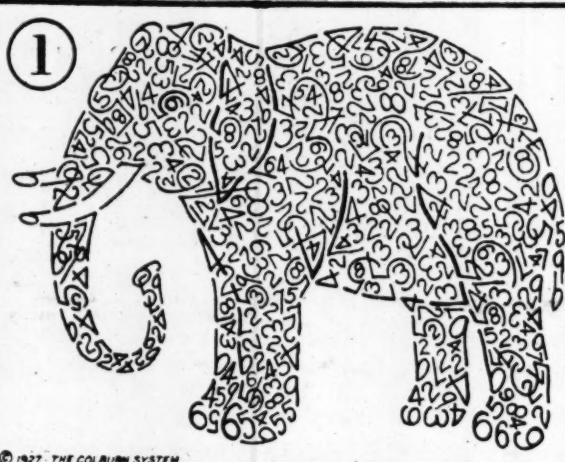

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household or several friends to work together, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in union to send a solution of the puzzle. When, in the judgment of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to refund the amount of money paid for subscription and return the solution if it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right at any time to reject any solution which it believes has not been submitted under the proper conditions. In other words, any group of persons working together and submitting more than one solution, all submitted by the group will be barred. The Atlanta Constitution also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise in this contest, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decisions of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people should tie in the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the best solution will be awarded the first prize, the next best second, and the third best third prize, etc.

6. All solutions with remittances must be delivered to the office of The Atlanta Constitution by 6:00 p. m., Thursday, March 29, 1928, or mailed at any post office in Georgia or adjoining states, bearing postmark of no later date than March 29.

7. The subscription rate of the daily and Sunday Constitution is $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance. Nothing less than six months' subscription will be accepted, and not more than twelve months' subscription is required. A subscription can be sent to one person and the solution credited to another, but the complete address of both must be given in each instance. This contest begins Thursday, February 9, and ends Thursday, March 29, 1928.

Patience and Persistence are the only requisites in winning one of the 30 big awards.

How to Win $1,500.<sup>00</sup>

To enter this contest it is necessary to send but one paid-in-advance subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution for six months with $5.00, but you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, with a $5.00 remittance and six months' subscription, should you win first prize the amount paid would be $500.00, but if the winner of first prize has qualified with a remittance of $9.50 for twelve months' subscription, the prize will be $1,500.00 instead of $500.00.

$500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal, $250.00 for second prize, $125.00 for third prize, etc.

$1,500.00 instead of $500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one yearly subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50, either new or renewal; second prize, $1,000.00; third prize, $500.00, etc. See last column in prize list. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance.

36	72	94	28	00	58	73	58	95	25

In case of ties, a second puzzle, like the accompanying chart, except larger, will be presented for those tied to solve. The problem will consist of drawing a continuous chain across the chart encircling the figures in the circles. If necessary to eliminate further ties, the puzzle, with combinations changed, will be presented for as many as five more times, after which should any ties exist, each tying contestant will receive the full amount of any prizes tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting elephants no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance

issued to annual subscribers and immediate members of a subscriber's family of ages from 15 to 70 at $1.25 per policy each per year. This fee is in addition to the subscription price. Applicants should give name in full, state age and occupation, and when a beneficiary is given be sure to state full Christian name and relationship to the insured.

Here Is The Great Prize List

Note: The value of the prize depends on how much you pay on your subscription with your solution in the triplet elephant game. The amount paid will be applied to the daily and Sunday Constitution: Daily only or tri-weekly subscriptions not accepted in this contest, and no solution will be registered unless accompanied by at least $5.00 for six months' subscription. The least amount is $5.00 for six months' subscription, or the largest amount required is $9.50 for twelve months' subscription.

Both the solution and subscription must be sent in at the same time in same envelope.

	Prize if 6 mos. sub. new or renewal with $5.00 is sent.	Prize if 12 mos. sub. new or renewal with $9.50 is sent.
First Prize	$500.00	$1,500.00
Second Prize	250.00	1,000.00
Third Prize	125.00	500.00
Fourth Prize	75.00	250.00
Fifth Prize	40.00	100.00
Sixth Prize	20.00	50.00
Seventh to Thirtieth Prizes	5.00	25.00
Total	$1,130.00	$4,000.00

Important Facts To Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners submit in subscription money. This is explained in the awards list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

Closing Date

Women Still Slaves to Men, SAYS SEX MUST IMPROVE SOCIETY TO AID SELVES

BY SYLVIA PANKHURST.
(Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)
London, February 23.—(United Press.)—Something is wrong with society.

Women can never become economically free until society itself improves. Under the present order of things, men and women alike are having a hard enough time, but women are enduring by far the worst. Behind every poor man there stands a still poorer woman. Married women under the present semi-emancipated state they have reached in many countries still are drudges to menial and manual labor.

CANDIDATES SPEAK AT 3 GATHERINGS

On the heels of retirement of Robert E. Church from the race for judge of the criminal court of Atlanta, 14 candidates for the five contested offices to be filled in the Fulton county elections at the present time is the fact that families are not so large as formerly. Twenty years ago it was common for a woman to give not only her youth but the whole of her earthly existence to bearing and rearing 15 or 15 children. Her time of rest during the 24 hours started when she was barely able to take her clothes off and fall in a dead stupor on her bed. Her rest and her food came later when the poor soul rose to meet another day with sickness in her very heart and body.

In these days when families of two, three or four children are much more general, mothers have more time to live and the children in turn benefit. Yet, whilst I consider the smaller family beneficial to both mother and child, I am not one to declare that large scale social poverty can be cured by birth control. On the contrary, I judge it is sad, even tragedy, to see country in which parents must restrict their families because of lack of means.

If women want emancipation, the womanhood of the world must do its part in constructing a new society.
